Our Section Moves From 3rd Congress District to 4th

Legislation approved Thursday by both houses of the General Assembly means that five southwest Arkansas counties, including our own, will leave John Paul Hammerschmidt's Third Arkansas District and join David Pryor's Fourth District.

The counties being so transferred are: Sevier, Little River, Howard, Hempstead, and Pike.

A good appraisal of the reapportionment system as it affects our area was made this week in the Nashville News by Editor Louis Graves, and his editorial was committed for reprinting in our Saturday edition before Thursday's legislative vote.

From The Star's standpoint, we liked things as they were, particularly because of the conservative outlook of Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt—but the man we are joining, Rep. David Pryor, although more on the liberal side, rates a good report also.

Personal preferences as to individual congressmen avail one nothing. The 1970 federal census is the controlling factor. The population gain in the northwestern counties of the Third District made it mandatory that some counties be switched over to the Fourth District—and Hempstead and its neighbors happened to be picked for the switch.

District population has to be made as nearly equal as possible between the several Congressional Districts—according to the mandate from the United States Supreme Court ruling: "One man, one vote."

Our old Third District gained population, our new Fourth District lost population—and there's nothing we can do but accept the reapportionment switch.

U.S. Tanker Explodes, 16 Missing

CAGLIARI, Sardinia (AP) — The 83,882-ton American tanker Universe Patriot caught fire after an explosion off Sardinia during the night. Sixteen of the 39-man crew are missing.

Two ships picked up the German captain and 16 of his men early this morning. Later, six others were rescued after spending the night in the rough waters in a rubber raft.

The Cagliari Military Marine Headquarters and the Civil Port Authority said their earlier report that 22 men were on the raft was mistaken. Only six men were aboard according to the latest message from the rescue ship, a Panamanian freighter.

Italian officials quoted the rescued captain as saying the tanker had other rubber rafts and the 16 missing men may be on them.

The captain said the crew included 24 Japanese, and the rest of the men were Greek, Indonesian, Portuguese, German, Swedish and Filipino.

There was no leakage of oil because the tanker was bound for Tripoli with water ballast in her tanks after unloading a cargo of crude oil on the French coast.

The Italian Navy reported that the fire had died out this morning, the sea had calmed and the ship was about a mile and a half off Capo Pecora, on the southwest coast of Sardinia.

The University Patriot is owned by Sea Tankers, Inc., of New York, an affiliate of National Buok Carriers. The ship was registered in Liberia.

Man Killed at Junction City

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — John T. Peace, 84, of Junction City was killed this morning when he was struck by a car as he attempted to walk across U.S. 167 about 10 miles south of here.

Police said Peace was struck by a car driven by Bernard Rothchild of Shreveport, La.

Pressure on Nixon to Free Hoffa

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reliable reports circulating here tell of strong pressure on the Nixon administration to pardon James R. Hoffa in time for him to resume control of the giant Teamsters Union next July.

The reports say Hoffa friends, in seeking either presidential clemency or a pardon, are reminding the White House that Hoffa supported President Nixon in his unsuccessful 1960 race against the late President John F. Kennedy.

"Unless something happens to dampen this thing, Hoffa is going to get out, take over the union, take over the pension fund and be right back where he was before," a source said.

"The pressure is really on," said another. None of the sources would permit quotation by name.

Other reports earlier from high government sources had indicated some Teamsters elements do not want Hoffa to resume active union control.

Hoffa, serving jury tampering and mail fraud sentences in Lewisburg, Pa., federal penitentiary, is still president of the 2 million member Teamsters. The mail fraud sentence, recently upheld by the Supreme Court, stemmed from the use of Teamsters' pension funds in a loan scheme.

Hoffa's presidential term runs out next July when the union will hold new elections at its convention in Miami.

Hoffa, in prison since 1967, was turned down on his first parole try last year but is eligible again in March.

During Hoffa's nearly four-years in prison, the union has been run by his hand-picked stand-in, acting President Frank E. Fitzsimmons.

Fitzsimmons has said he would run for the union presidency if Hoffa is "unavailable," and at least several of the Teamsters' powerful executive board members reportedly would oppose re-electing Hoffa if he were still behind bars.

But most Teamsters sources say if Hoffa is free at convention time, he would be a shoo-in for another five-year presidential term.

Hoffa would not be barred by federal labor law from continuing to serve as a union officer. The law bars the holding of union office for some crimes, but they do not include those for which Hoffa was convicted.

Hoffa was sentenced to eight years in prison for jury tampering stemming from a previous case in which he had been tried on charges of accepting illegal payments from a trucking firm.

Hope Attorney Seeks Dismissal of $200,000 Suit Charging Slander

PRESCOTT, Ark. (AP) — A $200,000 slander suit has been filed against James H. Pilkinton of Hope, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor in 1966.

The suit was filed Wednesday in Circuit Court here by Eugene B. Hale Sr., a Prescott lawyer, and members of his family.

The complaint alleges that on Jan. 6 Pilkinton made "false, malicious and defamatory" statements about Hale and his family before a number of Prescott residents.

The suits said that Pilkinton's remarks were made with malicious intent and exposed the Hale family to public hate, contempt and ridicule.

The suits asks for $100,000 in punitive damages and $100,000 in compensatory damages.

Pilkinton has a law practice in Hope.

Mr. Pilkinton filed an answer to the complaint Friday in the Circuit Court of Nevada County. The answer says:

Conservatives Hold Power in Senate

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the deathbed vote of a Senate patriarch, Robert C. Byrd, a West Virginia conservative, has deposed Edward M. Kennedy as Democratic whip of the Senate.

In a day of drama, sorrow and surprise, Senate Democrats gave a more conservative cast to their party's leadership—and dealt a setback to whatever prospect remained that Kennedy might emerge a contender for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination.

The crucial vote was that of the dying Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia, cast by proxy. Without it, Byrd said, he never would have run, never would have known he had more than enough votes to oust Kennedy from the party's No. 2 position in the Senate.

The secret vote Thursday was 31 to 24, at a caucus Kennedy entered believing he had firm commitments of 28 colleagues to elect him to a second term as whip.

But it was Byrd, who has fashioned his reputation and his leadership career as a technician, a headcounter, the man on hand for the parliamentary errands, who had the votes.

For all that, Byrd entered the caucus unannounced, awaiting word from Walter Reed Army Medical Center about Russell's condition.

He had word from Russell's staff Monday that the proxy vote of the Georgia senator would be cast for him. And by Byrd's count, that gave him 28 votes, just enough to win.

"I made up my mind, if he were living, I'd run," Byrd said. "If Sen. Russell had not been living, I would not have run."

If Everyone Said Only What He Meant World Would Be a Bear Pit

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — If everyone said only what he really meant, and meant everything he said, this world would be a bear pit.

The friction generated by our clashing egos would rub us all raw. If each man or woman told the other what he really thought of him, human society as we know it would be impossible.

That is why we have double talk, which is as essential to society as the wheel is to progress. Double talk is the art of saying something pleasant while thinking, perhaps, just the opposite. This enables us to salve the other fellow while salving our own desire to be honest, too.

For the uninitiated, here are a few examples of double talk in quotes, followed in each case by what the person who said them was actually thinking:

"My dear, quit worrying about it. It fits you like a glove."—That's why it makes you look like a baseball catcher's mitt.

"What we can't change we have to put up with. After all, neither of us is getting any younger."—But if I thought I looked as old as you do, I'd put on a mask.

"Professor, taking your course in Plato makes me feel like I'm strolling in Athens on a sunlit day."—But anyway you slice it, it's still Greek to me.

"Smithers, we mustn't try to skip up the rungs of the ladder of success too quickly or we'll miss some of the view, won't we?"—Does this nitwit have the effrontery to think he can beat me out of my job?

"I have listened to you carefully, and rest assured I'll give your words thoughtful consideration."—They went in one ear and out the other so fast they didn't even make an echo.

"The tensions of today build up in all of us. My advice is that you should take a long vacation somewhere alone where you can find yourself—the real you."—At least then you can't pollute my environment.

"Do you really mean you want me to tell you what I think you should do?"—You tempt me, Mac, you tempt me.

"Don't you feel it's too cold a day, Myrtle, to go bird watching?"—Let's stay inside by the fire, baby, and I'll ruffle your feathers.

Gillham Dam Injunction Is Denied

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Federal Judge G. Thomas Eisele, noting that a preliminary injunction to bar further work on Gillham Dam was unnecessary, denied Thursday a request for such an injunction.

Eisele said in a memorandum opinion that the injunction was not needed because the Corps of Engineers has no plan for further work on the dam in the immediate future.

The memorandum opinion was Eisele's fourth in the case filed against the corps last year by the Environmental Defense Fund, Inc.

A hearing on the merits of the case is set for Feb. 8.

The fund is seeking to block construction of the dam on grounds that it will alter detrimentally the ecology of the Cossatot River and surrounding areas.

The suit alleges that the corps has not fulfilled its obligations under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, which requires under certain circumstances precautions by federal agencies to preserve the environment while carrying out their functions.

The Gillham Dam project was authorized in 1958, but construction did not begin until 1963. The dam is to be an earth and rockfill structure 160 feet high across the Cossatot River about six miles northeast of Gillham.

No work has been done on the dam itself although $9,496,000 has been spent on the project so far. The total cost is estimated at $14.8 million.

In his memorandum opinions, Eisele has said the evidence submitted thus far indicates that the ecological balance would be disturbed by construction of the dam.

He said, however, that attorneys for the corps may be able to submit evidence at the upcoming hearing to change his mind.

Tax Meeting Scheduled Here Monday

Hempstead County livestock producers will be given an opportunity to learn more about Income and Social Security Taxes at a meeting on Monday, January 25. The meeting will be held in the conference room of the Post Office in Hope. Starting time is 7:00 p.m.

"Records needed by livestock producers" as well as "Tax Law Changes" will be discussed by W. R. Vandivere, Associate County Extension Agent. J. O. All livestock producers, along with their wives, are urged to attend.

Nixon Gives Message to Nation Tonight

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, his eye presumably fixed on 1972, delivers his State of the Union message tonight, outlining for Congress and the nation "new approaches and new initiatives" he thinks will ease the country's problems.

Nixon went out of his way to promise in advance the boldest and most far-reaching remedies ever proposed for national ills.

The traditional message will be delivered live to a joint session of Congress and will be televised and broadcast beginning at 9 p.m. EST.

For a brief time, consideration was given to postponing the speech because of the death Thursday afternoon of one of the most power-laden senators, Democrat Richard B. Russell of Georgia.

The White House said it checked with aides to Russell,

Many Feel Attack Was Response to Widening Cambodia Involvement

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. military analysts think the attack on the Phnom Penh airport today was a direct response to the widening American involvement in Cambodia.

These analysts noted that the airport has been poorly guarded and an inviting target for many months. But the Communist command did not order the attack until after the United States began providing support for the operation to open Cambodia's highway to the sea and stepped up its airlift of war materials into the Phnom Penh airport.

Some analysts saw the attack as revenge for the highway operation. It was made less than 12 hours after Cambodian infantrymen supported by American planes and helicopter gunships recaptured the heights overlooking Pich Nil pass, the major enemy strong point blocking the highway since Nov. 21.

American experts said the Cambodians probably couldn't have taken the pass without the U.S. air support.

U.S. transport planes also have been making daily runs from Saigon to Phnom Penh with arms, ammunition and other war materials for the Cambodians.

These war materials and other equipment apparently were among the main targets of the assault. And the Communist forces succeeded in destroying two huge supply hangars and two ammunition dumps, including one belonging to the Cambodians' South Vietnamese allies.

The attack also came soon after the return of Cambodian Premier Lon Nol from unity meetings in Saigon with South Vietnamese and American officials. He landed in Phnom Penh about seven hours before the attack.

The attack was interpreted in some quarters as a demonstration of the damage that a small but determined and skillful force of mortarmen and sappers can do against the newly forged Cambodian-Vietnamese-American alliance.

Such an attack presumably required several days planning and movement of supplies, but the enemy knew in advance that the premier was going to Saigon to cement the ties with the South Vietnamese and American leaders.

Ever since the war spread to Cambodia last March, there has been speculation that an attack on Phnom Penh was in the cards. Such talk gained momentum last week.

Hempstead Is Added to Work Incentive Plan

Hempstead, Lafayette, Miller and Nevada counties have been added to Arkansas' Work Incentive Program State Welfare Commissioner Len E. Blaylock announced today, bringing the total number of participating counties to 31.

The Work Incentive Program (WIN) is jointly sponsored by the State Welfare Department and the Employment Security Division of the State Labor Department. It is designed to prepare recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children for paid employment through a comprehensive program of work experience, education and training, together with supporting social services. Its' dual objective is to strengthen family life and to plan for eventual or immediate employment of the adults and older children, making it possible for the family to become self-supporting.

People who take part in WIN may receive their regular welfare check plus a $30.00 monthly incentive payment from the Employment Security Division. Fees for child-care are paid by the Welfare Department.

WIN can provide training for almost any kind of job. The training takes place in vocational schools, hospitals, business schools, nursing homes, government offices and private employers.

Expansion of the program will make it possible to enroll 180 people from the new counties in a job-training program.

Redistricting Plan Is Passed Despite Cries of Unconstitutional

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas House and Senate approved and sent to each other Thursday identical congressional redistricting bills despite contentions that the plan would not pass a constitutional test.

The bills embodied a plan drafted in Washington and styled informally as the "Alexander plan" because of support from Rep. Bill Alexander, D-Ark. The plan is acceptable to all four congressmen.

The House vote, on House Bill 38 by Rep. Walter Day of Blytheville and others, was 87-6. The Senate vote, on Senate Bill 58 by Sen. John F. Bearden Jr. of Leachville, was 27-5.

Sen. Bill H. Walmsley and Rep. Paul Henry, both of Batesville, were the chief opponents of the bills. Both are sponsors of another plan contained in identical bills — SB 59 and HB 84.

However, Walmsley said Thursday he would withdraw SB 59 on Monday because he

Attack Wrecks Cambodia's Air Force

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — A rocket, mortar and commando attack on Phnom Penh's airport and a nearby military camp and ammunition dumps early today took a heavy toll of lives, wrecked Cambodia's tiny air force and overshadowed the Cambodian army's success in its drive to reopen the highway to the sea.

Newsmen were barred from the airport, eight miles outside the city, and no accurate count of the destruction was available. But Cambodian officers said six of their air force's eight helicopters were destroyed and the other two were extensively damaged.

From a nearby rooftop, it appeared that few if any military planes on the field could fly. The military flight line looked like a junkyard.

The destruction of the air force was likely to have little if any effect on the prosecution of the war since most of the air attacks in Cambodia are flown by the U.S. and South Vietnamese air forces. But it was a severe psychological blow to Premier Lon Nol's government.

Eyewitnesses also reported the closest enemy attack yet to the center of Phnom Penh, a rocket that landed in a riverside shipyard on the edge of downtown Phnom Penh. As firemen fought the blaze at the yard, a battle could be seen close to the naval base across another of the capital's rivers, with tracer bullets curving through the night sky and numerous explosions echoing across the waters.

Trucks hauled bodies and scores of blood-spattered women and children into Phnom Penh from the airport and army camp eight miles outside the city. The death toll was not known, but it was feared it would be high.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong commandos, moving under cover of a rocket and mortar bombardment, slipped into the gatehouse at the airport's civilian terminal during the night and killed all the guards. Then they put on the guards' uniforms and ran among the buildings and planes, throwing satchel charges and shooting.

At about the same time, other enemy troops attacked an army camp near the airport, and one eyewitness said the destruction was almost total.

A series of unexplained explosions last fall in the same camp killed 50 persons.

The attacks took place about 12 hours after Cambodian infantrymen recaptured the heights commanding part of Pick Nil pass, 60 miles southwest of Phnom Penh on Highway 4, the capital's lifeline to the sea. The seizure of the mountaintop position climaxed a week-long offensive by 15,000 Cambodian and South Vietnamese troops aided by heavy U.S. air strikes and was the Cambodians' biggest success in the war to date.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Public Service Commission approved motions Thursday for a continuance in its hearing on whether the industrial contracts of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. should be canceled.

The hearing was scheduled to resume Wednesday, but the industrial users of gas in the case had asked for more time to prepare for cross-examination of Arkla's witnesses.

The commission said the hearing would resume Feb. 15.

The hearing began Jan. 6 after the commission issued an order asking Arkla and its industrial users to show cause why the commission should not withdraw its approval of industrial contracts for gas. Under the contracts, industries purchase gas much cheaper than other consumers.

Arkla is in favor of dissolving the contracts.

Under the bill, each daily paper would report to the state revenue commissioner before the 15th day of each month on the number of newspapers distributed during the preceding month. The tax would be collected at the time of the report.

Rep. Gean McDonald of Sheridan introduced a bill to establish a self-insurance program for the public schools and the state-supported colleges and universities.

The bill would create a state self-Insurance Commission that would be composed of the state education and insurance commissioners, the director of the Commission on Coordination of Higher Educational Finance and four persons appointed by the governor.

The commission would establish rates at amounts which the commissioners believed would be charged by reliable old line insurance companies for similar insurance.

McDonald said the bill was his own and was not a proposal drafted either by Gov. Dale Bumpers, who has endorsed such a program, or by Education Commissioner A. W. Ford, who has drawn his own self-insurance bill.

Rep. John B. Plegge of Little Rock introduced the administration's bill giving more "home rule" powers to cities of the first class, including authority to levy an income or payroll tax on approval of the voters.

The act would permit cities of the first class to exercise any function or legislative power pertaining to its local municipal affairs, but they could not supersede laws pertaining to either municipal or state affairs.

In addition, no municipality could levy a sales or use tax, other than those authorized by law, and could not declare any act a felony or authorze gambling, the sale or consumption of alcoholic beverages or any other conduct not "germane" to municipal affairs.

Rep. J. B. Smith of Marianna introduced a resolution asking the members of the state Board of Pardons and Paroles to resign to afford Bumpers the chance to appoint his own board.

Rep. Calvin R. Ledbetter Jr. of Little Rock introduced a bill to provide compensation for persons who suffer personal injury or death as a result of a crime. Claims would be filed with the state Claims Commission.

Sen. Morriss Henry of Fayetteville introduced a bill establishing the qualifications for receiving medical licenses in the state.

Hendrix Sees Passage of Both Issues

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen. Olen Hendrix of Prescott, president pro tempore of the Senate, said Thursday he believed the Senate would pass Gov. Dale Bumpers' reorganization bill and a measure to repeal the "fair trade" liquor law.

The House passed both measures Wednesday.

The reorganization bill would consolidate more than 60 of the state's agencies, boards and commissions into 13 major departments. Hendrix, who is a sponsor of the reorganization bill in the Senate, said he did not believe the vote in the Senate would be very close.

The "fair trade" law establishes minimum markups of liquor and wine prices at the wholesale and retail levels. Hendrix said he believed the measure would pass because the liquor industry had made no effort to oppose the bill.

AM&N Deaths Caused by Cocaine

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Medical Examiner Dr. Rodney Carlton says cocaine was the primary cause of the deaths of two Arkansas AM&N College students Jan. 13.

The two were Hugh A. Ford, 22, and Edward Reynolds, 21, both of El Dorado.

Carlton said cocaine, dextracocaine, LSD and traces of amphetamines and ethel and methyl alcohol were found in Ford's body. He said the same drugs were found in Reynolds' body except there was no trace of amphetamines.

Ford died in his dormitory room. Reynolds died in front of his off-campus home.

Governor to Keep Promise of Campaign

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers recalled Thursday night that he had promised during his successful campaign to work for a four-lane highway from Pine Bluff to Little Rock and said, "I believe we're on the threshold of accomplishing this goal..."

He said he was referring to the legislature's approval earlier in the week of a bill by Sen. Knox Nelson of Pine Bluff. The bill establishes a turnpike authority with the power to institute toll road construction.

Bumpers told more than 500 persons who attended the Pine Bluff Chamber of Commerce banquet that he didn't like toll roads, but that he didn't see any other solution.

The governor also said every effort was being made to see that the biological facilities at the Pine Bluff Arsenal were not phased out, but converted to peaceful uses.

A telegram from Sen. John L. McClellan and Rep. David Pryor, both D-Ark., said the two expected an announcement about use of the arsenal within 30 days.

did not believe it staisfied the same constitutional questions he raised against SB 58.

At the same time, he introduced SB 120 which he said would come closest of all pending redistricting proposals to meeting constitutional standards.

The constitutional question centers on whether the proposal will staisfy the U.S. Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" decision and subsequent decisions elaborating on that principle.

Without any objection, Walmsley introduced into the Senate record Thursday a copy of an opinion by Atty. Gen. Ray H. Thornton Jr. on the redistricting issue.

Some persons suggested privately that Walmsley was laying the groundwork for a court test of the plan in SB58-HB38, but Sen. J. A. Womack of Camden asked Walmsley about this and Walmsley said, "No, I put it in as part of my argument against SB58."

He told newsmen he knew of no plan to challenge the redistricting proposal in court should it get final legislative approval as is expected.

An announcement by Sen. Jim Caldwell of Rogers that he will introduce a new redistricting bill Monday further complicated the redistricting picture.

The plan approved by both legislative chambers would give the districts this composition:

—1st District: Fulton, Izard, Sharp, Stone, Independence, Randolph, Clay, Lawrence, Greene, Jackson, Craighead, Poinsett, Mississippi, Woodruff, Cross, St. Francis, Crittenden, Monroe, Lee and Phillips counties.

—2nd District: Cleburne, Conway, Faulkner, White, Perry, Saline, Pulaski, Lonoke, Prairie and Arkansas counties.

—3rd District; Benton, Carroll, Boone, Marion, Baxter, Washington, Madison, Newton, Searcy, Crawford, Franklin, Johnson, Pope, Van Buren, Sebastian, Logan, Yell, Scott, Polk, Montgomery and Garland counties.

—4th District: Howard, Pike, Sevier, Little River, Hempstead, Hot Spring, Grant, Jefferson, Clark, Dallas, Cleveland, Lincoln, Desha, Nevada, Ouachita, Calhoun, Bradley, Drew, Miller, Lafayette, Columbia, Union, Ashley and Chicot counties.

The effect of the plan would be to move from the 2nd District to the 1st District the counties of Fulton, Izard, Sharp, Stone and Independence, from the 2nd District to the 3rd District Baxter County, from the 3rd District to the 4th the counties of Howard, Pike, Sevier, Little River and Hempstead.

Redistricting is necessary because of population shifts reflected in the 1970 federal census of Arkansas. The 1st District and 4th District must take on additional counties because of population losses and the 2nd and 3rd must give up counties because of population gains so that all four districts will be nearly equal in population.

Under the plan of SB58-HB38, the 1st District would be the smallest in population with a total of 47,628 and the 2nd District would be the largest with 486,754, a variance of 15,126. The 3rd District population would be 483,747 and the 4th District population would be 481,174.

Walmsley, relying on information in Thornton's opinion, said he believed the plan approved by the Senate was "patently constitutional" because of the variance.

"I'm risking the possibility of incurring the wrath of your congressional delegation because I believe this plan is unconstitutional," Walmsley said.

Bearden said, however, that the plan was designed to give the 1st District several counties that are gaining in population so the population changes in the districts over the next decade, prior to the next census, will not vastly alter the populations of the districts.

Thornton's opinion referred to a U.S. Supreme Court decision involving a 25,000 variance in Missouri's districts and quoted from the high court's opinion, which said:

"We recognize that a congressional districting plan will usually be in effect for at least 10 years and five congressional elections. Situations may arise where substantial population shifts over such a period can be anticipated. Where these shifts can be predicted with a high degree of accuracy, states that are redistricting may properly consider them. By this we mean to open no avenue tor subterfuge. Findings as to population trends must be thoroughly documented and applied throughout the state in a systematic, not an ad hoc, manner."

Walmsley's new bill contained a variance of only 3,786, compared to more than 15,000 under the plan the House and Senate approved.

The fact that a plan with a smaller variance has been introduced "proves conclusively" that SB58-HB38 did not arrive at districts as nearly equal in population as is practical and the plan, therefore, is unconstitutional, he said.

Caldwell distributed maps of the plan he will introduce Monday and it had a still smaller variance, 2,395.

Sen. Dorathy Allen of Brinkley spoke for SB58, saying she was confident it would meet constitutional requirements, that she doubted the accuracy of the census figures, and that it would "take a lot of talking to convince me" that the figures were correct.

She said a lot of research had gone into the plan, but when Walmsley asked who had done the research, Mrs. Allen said, "I don't care to divulge my source."

Walmsley said he still would attempt to bring SB 120 to a vote, although he conceded his chance of success was bleak.

He and Henry had fought for their own plan, which differed from the "alexander plan" only in respect to two counties. The Batesville senators wanted to keep Independence County, their home, in the 2nd District under Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., while sending Arkansas County to the 1st District. The Bearden-Day bill would send Independence to the 1st, keeping Arkansas in the 2nd.

Caldwell also said that he had doubts about the likelihood of getting legislative approval of the plan he will submit Monday.

Walmsley's new plan would create these districts:

2nd — Fulton, Izard, Sharp, Stone, Cleburne, Independence, Conway, Faulkner, White, Perry, Pulaski, Lonoke and Prairie.

4th—Pike, Garland, Hot Spring, Grant, Jefferson, Saline, Clark, Dallas, Cleveland, Lincoln, Nevada, Ouachita, Calhoun, Bradley, Drew, Miller, Lafayette, Columbia, Union and Ashley.

Walmsley said that if a redistricting plan is held unconstitutional, the decision would indicate poor judgment on the part of the legislature, not the congressmen.

"But in this instance, we've abdicated our responsibility to them," he said, referring to approval of a plan devised by the congressional delegation, rather than one created by legislators.

"I don't have anything against Bill Alexander," Wamsley said. "I know him and respect him and think he's been a very effective congressman. But I received 21 letters from people in my county today saying they wanted to stay in Mr. Mills' district."

Caldwell said he was fearful that courts might overturn the redistricting plan approved Thursday, creating a situation where all four congressmen would have to run at large, rather than by districts.

The bill he will introduce would give this makeup to each district:

2nd — Fulton, Randolph, Sharp, Izard, Stone, Searcy, Cleburne, White, Faulkner, Perry, Pulaski and Lonoke.

3rd—Benton, Carroll, Boone, Marion, Baxter, Newton, Madison, Washington, Crawford, Franklin, Johnson, Pope, Van Buren, Conway, Logan, Sebastian, Scott, Yell, Montgomery and Garland.

demurrer previously filed, for his Answer to the Complaint filed herein against him by the plaintiffs, says:

"He denies each and every material allegation of the Complaint, and specifically denies that he ever said or spoke the alleged words, either in public or in private, as set out in the Complaint and as enclosed by quotation marks in said Complaint.

"That he is an attorney and, as such, represented William H. Hays and Virginia Hays, his wife, in a certain law suit pending in the Nevada Circuit Court, docket No. 3857, styled William H. Hays, et us -v- Eugene B. Hale, Sr., et al; that said case was tried before a jury in said court on January 5 and 6, 1971, and a verdict rendered, and a judgment entered, for his clients against Eugene B. Hale, Sr., et al; that any remarks made by defendant to the jury in said trial were made by him as an attorney in a legal proceeding on behalf of his clients, and were made in open court and in the presence of the presiding judge; that no objection or exception was taken by Eugene B. Hale, Sr., Eugene B. Hale, Jr., Mary Virginia Hale, or their counsel, at the time to any comments or argument made by James H. Pilkinton in representing his clients although all of them were present; that whatever was said or done on the occasion complained of was absolutely privileged, and no legal action can be maintained thereon; that public policy and fearless administration of justice require that an attorney have privilege of representing his clients' interest without constant menace of claims for libel or slander; and defendant here claims and alleges such privilege; that if the Hales who were defendants in case No. 3857 aforesaid feel offended by the judgment rendered in said cause their legal remedy is to appeal that case to the Arkansas Supreme Court, if they wish, and not to sue their adversaries' counsel.

"That defendant has a copy of what he actually said to the jury on subject occasion, and it was not at all what is alleged in the Complaint; that said remarks were not only privileged, but were material, pertinent and relevant to the matter in controversy in said case of William H. Hale, et ux v. Eugene B Hale, et al., and defendant further alleges that what he actually said on said occasion was true.

"WHEREFORE, premises considered, defendant prays that this cause be dismissed, for cost expended, and all other proper relief to which he is entitled."

nedy for whip already had been when Byrd slipped from the caucus room off the Senate floor, checked with an aide to Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., on the condition of Russell.

"He told me it was exactly what it had been," Byrd said. He walked back into the room and with a nod of his head, signaled Sen. Jennings Randolph, his West Virginia colleague, that he would challenge Kennedy. Randolph made the speech nominating Byrd.

Within four hours, Russell, who had been re-elected president pro-tem of the Senate at the same caucus, was dead.

Almost unnoticed amid the Democratic drama, Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott withstood the challenge of Sen. Howard Baker Jr. of Tennessee at the GOP caucus.

Scott won re-election 24 to 20. The defeat could raise political problems for Baker, who will be up for re-election in 1972.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana was re-elected without opposition as majority leader, a job he already has held for a record 10 years.

Sen. Frank E. Moss of Utah was elected to succeed Byrd as secretary of the Democratic caucus.

NIXON GIVES

dean and president pro tem of the Senate, and with the congressional leadership and was advised Nixon should deliver his address as scheduled.

The focus of the President's remarks will be domestic problems and his prescriptions for dealing with them. Foreign policy questions will be dealt with in mid-February in a lengthy written document informally labeled the President's "state of the world" report.

Because Nixon's State of the Union remarks are aimed squarely at problems at home, all black members of the House announced in advance they will boycott the session. They wrote Nixon:

"Your consistent refusal to hear the pleas and concerns of black Americans dictates our decision to be absent."

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., only black in the Senate, said he will attend the joint session.

The keystone of Nixon's 1971 program is a greatly expanded blueprint for sharing part of Uncle Sam's tax take with hard-pressed state and local governments on pretty much a no-strings-attached basis.

Last year the Democratic-controlled Congress did not even hold hearings on less ambitious revenue-sharing recommendations.

Already espousing deficit spending—once a GOP bugaboo—as a way of stimulating the recessed economy, Nixon also will put stress on plans to reorganize the federal bureaucracy—presumably to make it more efficient and less costly.

The President will call for a start on a modest form of national health insurance.

Even before his appearance, Nixon was hardly modest in characterizing the content of his speech. Talking Wednesday to key members of the White House staff he said:

"What I present this year in the State of the Union and in the legislative program will be by far the most comprehensive, the most far-reaching, the most bold program in the domestic field ever presented to an American Congress."

Nixon spent much of Thursday polishing his speech, selecting what he liked from a variety of preliminary drafts prepared under his direction by chief speechwriter Raymond K. price

Several Fronts Are Moving Into Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A series of fronts will begin moving in to Arkansas today. One will move in during the early evening hours, but will have little effect on the weather.

However, later in the evening, a cold front will begin moving into the state bringing colder and drier air. The result will be decreasing cloudiness and colder temperatures.

Fair weather will continue through Sunday.

The highs Thursday ranged from 43 at Jonesboro to 61 at Fort Smith.

Overnight lows were Fayetteville, 35; Harrison, 37; Jonesboro, 36; Pine Bluff, 42; Texarkana, 45; El Dorado, 46; Memphis, 42; Little Rock, 40; and Fort Smith, 41.

Precipitation recorded during the 24-hour period ending at 6:30 a.m. today included .27 of an inch of rain at Pine Bluff; .01 at Texarkana; .02 at El Dorado; .14 at Memphis; .05 at Little Rock and a trace at Fort Smith.

Fire Forces Delay of Selb Trial

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A fire Thursday forced the postponement of the trial of James L. Townley of Hurst, Tex., who is charged in connection with allegedly defective parts made for the F111 fighter-bomber by Selb Manufacturing Co. of Walnut Ridge.

U.S. District Judge J. Smith Henley ordered the postponement because five witnesses in the trial required hospital treatment after a fire swept through a floor of the hotel in which they were staying. None of the five was seriously injured.

The trial is to continue today.

Townley is charged with concealing Selb's alleged production of defective parts for the plane. He is a former quality assurance superintendent for General Dynamics Corp. of Fort Worth, Tex., prime contractor for the F111.

Townley is the first of seven persons to be brought to trial on charges of conspriing to conceal defective parts made by Selb for the F111.

STOMPIN' GRANNY. Helping to crush some of the more than 18 million scrap aluminum cans collected last year under Alcoa's "Yes We Can" program is actress Irene Ryan, "Granny" of TV's Beverly Hillbillies. The reclamation and recycling program is operating in San Diego, Calif., Dallas and Fort Worth, Tex. Plans are to expand it to Evansville, Ind., early this year.

Obituaries

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard B. Russell, 73, dean and president pro tempore of the Senate wherein he served for more than half his lifetime, died Thursday of respiratory problems complicated by emphysema. Russell, a Democrat first elected in 1933, was chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

SUN CITY, Ariz. (AP) — Ralph C. Hawley, 90, a pioneer conservationist, author of several books on the subject and a professor at Yale University from 1906 until 1948, died Tuesday. He was New England chairman of the Society of American Foresters in 1925.

NEW YORK (AP) — Eleanor French, 66, who held executive posts with the Young Women's Christian Association for more than 20 years until she retired in 1966, died Wednesday after a heart attack. She also was a leader in women's work in the National Council of Churches.

Television and Radio

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Alias Smith and Jones," a western adventure series with a saucy sense of humor, had its premiere on ABC Thursday night.

The basic premise is that a pair of outlaws is given a crack at amnesty by the governor if they can go straight and stay out of trouble during their probation.

The hangup is that the author of the amnesty is kept a secret and they're still on the wanted list in the meantime. Each week temptation is thrown into their path, and they resist it, usually by the most devious means possible.

Who cares that it bears more than a coincidental similarity to "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid?" The important thing is that the show works and it is so well done and so brilliantly cast that it is a sheer pleasure to watch.

Stars Pete Duel and Ben Murphy play well against each other as the two outlaws. They toss lines back and forth like two ballplayers warming up in the bullpen. Duel lends his role the right kind of gulp-and-go-for-broke quality, and Murphy, who looks like a young Paul Newman, is cool and offhand.

In the opening episode, which came only two weeks after the show was tested as a Movie of the Week and landed fourth in the rating, Duel and Murphy were pitted against wily Burl Ives in a game of oneupmanship.

Ives was cast as the guy who owns practically everything in town and aims to keep it that way. Normally, this kind of a role calls for a menacing appearance and a pack of gunslingers who like to lean on people. Instead, Ives played it like foxy grandpa and it was just the right touch.

This is the first new western since the uproar over violence 2½ years ago and the fact that the stars have to stay out of trouble, rather than go looking for it, is a big plus in that respect.

"Alias Smith and Jones" could go a long way toward shoring up ABC's disastrous Thursday schedule. "Bewitched" is the only show remaining from the fall lineup. "Make Room for Granddaddy" and "Dan August" were shifted from other nights.

What the show doesn't have in its favor is that it's up against some tough competition at 7:30 p.m. NBC's Flip Wilson is the only new runaway hit of the season and CBS's "Family Affair" has more staying power than a 10-ton rock in a hurricane.

Ordinarily, a western appeals to the kids and older adults who watch "Family Affair" and the Jim Nabors show, which follows on CBS. But its tongue-in-cheek attitude, two handsome stars and obvious attempt to catch some of the popularity of "Butch Cassidy" is an appeal for the young adults who watch Flip Wilson.

So either "Alias Smith and Jones" is going to siphon viewers away from both opposing shows, as it must to stay in business. Or it's going to go nowhere and ABC is going to be in deeper trouble Thursday nights.

Pastor Picked for Service

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED for it, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper.

I WISH, I WISH, I WISH—AGAIN

Dear Helen:

Remember 10 years ago when you lived in Oregon and the rains came down for three months straight, and you wrote a "cabbages and kings" column called "I Wish, I Wish, I Wish"?

Well, I still live in Oregon, and the skies still endlessly open up, and I wish, I wish, I wish you'd reprint that column. As I remember, it started "Today isn't for problems but for dreaming..." — PLEASE???

Dear Please:

Be glad to, since your letter arrived during a dreary California rain—just right for "wishing." Forthwith:

I wish I could lie in tall grass and name the cloud people and perhaps see a V-line of wild geese flying; or fashion necklaces from Johnny-jump-ups and whistles out of hollow weeds; or maybe find a doodlebug's hole and blow in it to make him surface. (But instead I sit at the window and watch the gutters flood).

I wish my daffodils would all blossom pink and blue with lavender stripes and big around as dahlias, and wouldn't THAT wow the local garden club?

I wish just once I could watch a TV mystery thriller without someone asking, "What happened while I was out of the room?"

I wish the U.S. mails would go on strike for three and one-half weeks except for greeting cards, gifts and checks.

I wish I'd take the next dirt road I see and it wouldn't get me stuck in a mud hole, but would lead to a tree-enshrined farmhouse where a motherly lady serves huckleberry wine and homemade bread and hoarhound candy.

I wish I were the zany type who would jet to New York just for a blintz (where they make 'em best) and then fly home again without even going uptown.

I wish I could catch a hummingbird, with or without salt.

I wish we had an automatic conveyor from our woodpile to the fireplace, and not unpredictable kids either.

I wish I had the perfect answer to every problem in my mail. (And for every question our kids ask.)

I wish an airplane would crash (gently) in our back yard and its unhurt passengers were world leaders, and lasting peace would be arranged in our front room.

I wish I had taken up parachute jumping (well..sky-diving then) when it was the adventure I longed for most, because now I no longer long for it and I'll never know what I missed.

I wish I could wish my ironing done.

I wish my husband would tell me I'm the most beautiful, desiriable, glamorous, delectable woman on earth without me first reminding him with a small kick on the shins.

I wish I could find all those fabulous quips I have written on envelopes, bills and margins torn from magazines, so I could produce just one perfect column.

I wish I were a famous comedienne, and could sing and dance, and write like Mark Twain with Leacock overtones, and also that my hair would stay curled in dry climates.

I wish just once I wouldn't get a static electric shock when I take synthetics out of the dryer.

I wish there'd come a time when I'm wearing my slinky hostess gown instead of blue jeans when unexpected guests arrive.

I wish our cat's nesting instincts wouldn't take him to the back of my top file because green eyes shining from darkness is worse than electric shocks from synthetics.

I wish I might remember everyone I ever met at various public appearances so that I could stop smiling at strangers on the street, because some people think you're crazy when you do that.

I wish the chili beans I'm making for dinner would be pheasant under glass on the Champs Elysees in Paris— or wherever they have P.U.G. in Paris. — H.

Newman, Wife Regain Top

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Paul Newman and his wife, Joanne Woodward, were the movies' top box office draws last year, according to a poll by Box Office, a film trade publication.

Results of the voting by exhibitors, consumer film groups, newspaper, radio and television reporters were announced Wednesday.

Miss Woodward was named the top actress in the same poll last year.

John Dalton, an English chemist, who was a Quaker schoolmaster, first developed the atomic theory in 1803.

Baptist Men's Day Set for Sunday

The First Baptist Church will give special attention to Baptist Men's Day Sunday in all the services. The day will begin with a breakfast in Fellowship Hall for all men and boys of the church and their guest at 7:30.

The theme "Bring Your Twin" will be carried out with each man bringing a Buddy. Gordon McNulty-ex Star Razorback will be the speaker for the breakfast meeting and also for both worship services Sunday morning at 9:30 and 10:45 a.m. The men of the church will fill the choir for the worship service Sunday morning. A Men's Quartet will furnish the special music.

At the evening service three laymen from the church will speak and the Men's quartet will furnish special music. All men and boys will be recognized at both services. The public is cordially invited to attend.

81st Wedding Anniversary Celebrated

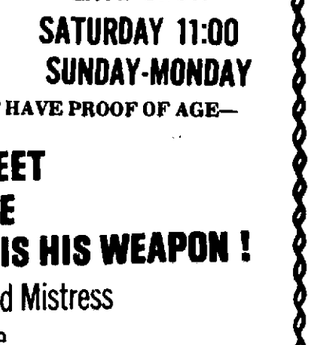

MACON, Mo. AP— Mr. and Mrs. Ward McDaniel observe their 81st wedding anniversary today.

McDaniel, a retired farmer who celebrated his 102nd birthday last June, and his wife, Cynthia Anne, who was 101 year old last May, have together triumphed over odds now computed at 191 million to 1.

In response to an inquiry from a grandson of the couple on their 79th wedding anniversary two years ago, federal statisticians calculated the odds at 8.75 million to 1.

In their four-room house where they live alone, Mr. and Mrs. McDaniel are marking the occasion quietly.

Local Girls Win in Meet at Gurdon

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Glenrose who? That was the question the Hope Ladycats were asking after they walloped the little team, 74-47, in the Gurdon Invitational T Tournament.

Hope is now holding a 6-8 seasonal record and they go back to Gurdon tonight, to play Delight in a real tough game.

Janet McCain started Hope off with a jumpshot and after Dee Singleton later hit six straight points, the Ladycats held an early 8-2 lead.

Holding Glenrose to only three points for the next few minutes, Betty Rodden hit four separate charity shots and Singleton banked a layup for a 14-5, Hope lead.

Rodden hit the last four points of the quarter, the later with only two seconds left; to put the Ladycats out in front, 18-5, moving into the second quarter.

Now using the shooting of McCain and Rodden, Hope led 28-11, with 3:00 showing on the clock. Two layups by Singleton, within ten seconds of each other, and a free throw by McCain gave Hope a 16 point lead with 1:27 left in the half.

After Rodden popped the net with nine seconds left, Hope held an easy 40-17, halftime margin.

Playing real team ball, the Ladycats added to that score in the second half, as many reserves chalked up some playing time late in the game.

Coming out in the third period, Glenrose took the tipoff and immediately Paula James hit the net.

However, the Ladycats began once more to generate and three minutes later, led 47-22, after a layup by Singleton.

With James hitting numerous free shots, Glenrose stayed within 30 points of the Ladycats, although never gaining any ground with Singleton and Rodden, matching point for point.

Free throws by Rodden and McCain, helped Hope to a 57-27 lead and after Rodden tracled two points with James, the Ladycats stood holding a 61-29 margin, now entering the fourth and final period.

Reserves now coming into the lineup, Rodden hit six straight points with 34 seconds as Hope took a time out, leading 67-35, with 5:10 left in the game.

Hitting two free throws, Julia Brown later hit a layup, compared to four free throws by James, upped the Ladycats lead to 71-39 with 3:04 left in the game.

Bonnie Willis hit the last three of Hope's points as the Ladycats won a well deserved victory.

Often, the defense is not in the limelight but they must be mentioned for the outstanding game each of them played, getting the ball quickly back up court all night long.

Defensive members are Cindy Hollis, Betty Ruth Honeycutt, Sandra Hamilton, Sharon Brown, Judy Reyenga, and Rebecca Stuart.

For the Ladycats, Rodden hit 31 points, Singleton sank 21, McCain had 15, Brown hit for four, and Willis hit three.

Laver Very Unhappy With First Serve

NEW YORK (AP) — "I'm very unhappy with my first serve," says Rocket Rod Laver.

Yeah, but that second one is killing everybody.

The bullet-dealing Australian admitted to an imperfection, but had enough in reserve at Madison Square Garden Thursday night to silence American Arthur Ashe 7-5, 6-4, 7-5 in another round of the rich Tennis Champions Classic.

Laver took the $10,000 winner-take-all prize for his fifth straight triumph in this multi-city tourney for total earnings of $50,000.

Ashe did not notice any difference in his opponent with the super serve. The stick-thin American hasn't been able to handle [illegible] servers now.

Bobcats Meet Highly Ranked Cardinals

Bill Moore
Star Sportswriter

It's Showdown time! That's right, because tonight the Hope Bobcats take on the Fairview Cardinals in what appears to be a real upcoming battle.

Both teams past present 2-0 district records and the winner will be sitting on top of the rest of the conference with a perfect 3-0 slate.

Fairview owns a present 15-2 seasonal record and are ranked number 10 in the state AP rankings. By the UPI rankings they are number 12.

Using a 1-2-1 defense they also switch to a 2-2-1 zone press and can run a man to man shuffle.

Robert Horne is the key shooter for the Cardinals, while at 6'4", John Atkins is a tough man on the rebounding end of the game. Charlie Robertson also figures into the Cardinal attack on both offense and defense.

But the Bobcats have some players of their own.

After two district games, big John Dudley has hit 28 and 36 points for a 32 point average, while also pulling down 186 rebounds during the season.

In the field of free throws, Parker Powell has hit 61 of 72 from the line for over an 80 per cent average. He is followed by Steve Harris.

Powell agains leads with 24 assists while David Briggs had 22.

After shooting only 34 per cent from the field and 64 per cent from the line in the controversial game at Texarkana Tuesday night, the big Cats will be fired up and ready to go, and they should win.

Pros Trouble on and Off the Court

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If Memphis can make as much progress off the court as the Pros are making on it, the troubled American Basketball Association franchise ought to be in good shape again soon.

The Pros stung the Floridians 116-106 Thursday night in Nashville, Tenn., while Memphis citizens scurried around, trying to raise enough case to insure keeping the financially troubled team in Memphis.

In Thursday night's only other ABA game, Indiana ripped Denver 118-106.

Another $30,000 was pledged Thursday by individuals trying to keep the Pros in Memphis. That raised the total pledged so far to $230,000. An estimated $800,000 is needed. The ABA has been operating the team since December when owner P.L. Blake withdrew, citing $200,000 in losses in 60 days.

On the court, the Pros are doing quite well, thank you. They've won seven of their last nine games and used their three Jones boys to wear out the Floridians Thursday night.

The Jones trio had 64 points, 27 by Jimmy, 20 by Steve and 17 by Wilbert. Mack Calvin, the ABA's No. 2 scorer, led the losers with 24.

Lamonica, Brodie Start the Pro Bowl

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John Brodie of the San Francisco 49-ers and Daryle Lamonica of the Oakland Raiders will be the starting quarterbacks Sunday when the greatest collection of talent in pro football history tangles in the first Pro Bowl matching stars of the American and National conference.

Unlike past all-star clashes, this game, which will be nationally televised by CBS starting at 1 p.m., PST, is expected to be played to its fullest — with no prohibitions on blitzing or any other arrangements made between the coaches.

With NFC Coach Dick Nolan naming Brodie and AFC Coach John Madden naming Lamonica a passing show is expected for the clash of 81 of the National Football League's top stars in a contest heightened by elements of the old AFL-NFL rivalry.

For as much as anything this is a test of prestige for the combatants on each side following a season in which the NFC won 27 games and the AFC 12 in head-on meetings. The AFC's Baltimore Colts grabbed the Super Bowl over the NFC's Dallas Cowboys.

That pride in conference may be the major reason no gentlemen's agreements have been reached between the coaches to guard against an all-out battle.

That not only offers the prospect of a major offensive battle with all the major statistical leaders on hand, but a hard-hitting defensive struggle revolving around savage front fours.

Aiming at Brodie will be an AFC front four that totals over 1,100 pounds—6-foot-7, 295-pound Bubba Smith of Baltimore, 6-7, 287-pound Buck Buchanan of Kansas City, 6-4, 270-pound Joe Greene of Pittsburgh and 6-3, 256-pound Rich Jackson of Denver.

Lamonica, meanwhile, will have to contend with a lighter, but quicker NFC quartet of 6-5, 250-pound Deacon Jones of Los Angeles, 6-5, 260-pound Bob Lilly of Dallas, 6-4, 250-pound Alan Page of Minnesota and 6-6, 255-pound Carl Eller of the Vikings.

That creates several interesting match-ups. Jones will be going against 6-6, 270 tackle Jim Tyrer of Kansas City and Lilly against the Chiefs' 6-5, 260 - pound guard Ed Budde. On the other side, two Rams — tackle Charlie Cowan and guard Tom Mack — will have to handle Smith and Buchanan, respectively.

With the battle along the lines ensured, the most explosive performers in the NFL will begin parading their talents.

The NFC offensive unit named by Nolan to start includes 1,000-yard receiver Gene Washington of the 49ers and 1,000-yard ground gainer Larry Brown of Washington. Two other 1,000-yard producers, — receiver Dick Gordon of Chicago and running back Ron Johnson of the Giants, wait their turn.

Brodie's other weapons at the start will be another receiver named Gene Washington, of the Vikings, tight end Charlie Sanders of Detroit and running back MacArthur Lane of St. Louis.

Besides Lilly, the starting defensive unit includes one other member of the NFC champion Cowboys,—cornerback Mel Renfro, and middle linebacker Dick Butkus of Chicago, reputedly the most feared player in pro football.

The AFC starting offensive and defensive units are dominated by the Raiders and the Chiefs. Oakland will have six players on the offensive side and one on defense while Kansas City has two on offense and five on defense.

Lamonica will have two of his own receivers in Warren Wells and tight end Raymond Chester plus a familar running back in Hewritt Dixon and two line mates—center Jim Otto and tackle Harry Schuh. Receiver Gary Garrison of San Diego and running back Leroy Kelly fill out his complement of starting offensive weapons.

In reserve on the bench will be the conference's leading rusher, Floyd Little of Denver, and top receiver, Marlin Briscoe of Buffalo.

Defensively, the Raiders starter is cornerback Willie Brown while the Chiefs are Buchanan, linebackers Willie Lanier and Bobby Bell, cornerback Jim Marsalis and safety Johnny Robinson.

In addition to prestige, the players will be battling for winner's shares of $2,000 each, with $1,500 going to each member of the losing team. If the teams are tied at the end of regulation time, they will play sudden death to determine the outcome.

Utah State Can't Be Overlooked

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

UCLA, Marquette, Southern Cal and Pennsylvania have imposing winning streaks in college basketball. Don't overlook Utah State and Massachusetts.

Utah State, tied for 12th with Kentucky in this week's Associated Press poll, made it nine in a row by beating Utah 102-92 Thursday night. Unbeaten Massachusetts made it 11 straight by whipping Boston University 77-63.

Utah State, unbeaten since the Brigham Young game on Dec. 19, made it 14-2 for the season in beating the Redskins before 14,689 at Salt Lake City.

Marv Roberts and Nate Williams combined for 60 points to lead the Aggies. Each scored 30 points in the nip-and-tuck game until the Aggies went ahead for good at 90-88.

Mike Newlin's 27 points paced the Redskins, who lost for the fifth straight time to their arch rival.

It may have been a costly victory for the Aggies. Junior Jeff Tebbs, a star in the backcourt, suffered a poke in the eye early in the game and may be out for the season.

Mike Pagliara and Julius Erving, with 24 and 22, combined for 46 points to lead Massachusetts over BU.

A burst of 11 straight points early in the second half sewed it up for Massachusetts. James Gardin paced the losing terriors with 23.

Duquesne, upset winner over Notre Dame earlier in the week, made it five in a row by routing Cleveland State 106-60 led by Garry Nelson with 19 points. Vermont, led by Ray Ortiz's 28 points, upset Fairfield 86-74.

Centenary humbled Hardin Simmons 74-71, Seattle downed Weber State 74-70, Northern Illinois defeated Ball State 98-83, Texas-Arlington beat Pan American 101-82 and Southern Mississippi overcame Lamar Tech 82-77 in other games.

Lombardi Award to a Buckeye

HOUSTON (AP) — The winner of the first annual Vince Lombardi award as the nation's outstanding collegiate lineman is a 230-pound linebacker who says he is not leery of anything.

Jim Stillwagon of Ohio State was presented the award Thursday night by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Agnew announced the winner before 750 persons at a $100-a-plate dinner for the benefit of American Cancer Society research.

Only an accounting firm that tabulated ballots of a 54-member selection committee knew the name of the winner of the 45-pound granite trophy until Agnew made the announcement.

"My goals are to play pro football and be successful in whatever I do," Stillwagon, 21, said after receiving the award. "I'm not leery about doing anything, but some day I want to be a coach."

Stillwagon, also winner of the Outland award for outstanding lineman, said he was really surprised by this one. He would not compare the two awards.

Three other finalists — Larry Di Nardo, Notre Dame offensive guard; Chip Kell, Tennessee offensive guard, and Rock Perdoni, Georgia Tech defensive tackle — witnessed the presentation. They were given plaques as runners up.

The award, sponsored by the cancer society and the Houston Rotary Club, is symbolic of the Fordham University line—called "seven blocks of granite"—that made the former Green Bay and Washington Redskins coach famous.

Agnew addressed the dinner group prior to disclosing the award winner. He said the molding of championship teams was only part of a larger mission for Lombardi.

"Vince Lombardi was a teacher of the abiding values of our society — love of God, family and country; faith, pride, discipline, loyalty, perseverance, dedication to a cause larger than oneself," Agnew said.

"He lived by and taught a code of ethics rooted in the belief that a man's worth was accurately tested in adversity, greatly sharpened in competition and ultimately proved in moments of supreme challenge."

State Set for ABA All Star Cage Game

Associated Press Sports Writer

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — The American Basketball Association stages its fourth annual All-Star game Saturday with the outcome likely to hinge on a sweeping East-West change in direction and two controversial switches in leagues.

Because of trades and the realignment of divisions this season, four stars who played for the East last year will be on the West squad this time around, and three others moved from West to East.

Gone to the West is the great front line of Bob Netolicky, Mel Daniels and Roger Brown, who led the Indiana Pacers to the Eastern Division and ABA titles last season before the club was moved to the West Division.

Moving with them was Donnie Freeman, traded from the Floridians to Utah and then Texas.

Traveling in the opposite direction were Larry Jones, traded from Denver to the Floridians; Cincy Powell, traded from Texas to Kentucky, and Rick Barry. Barry was sent from Virginia to the New York Nets after the Squires were switched from West to East.

Just as important is the switches by Joe Caldwell, who wasn't even in the league last year, and Spencer Haywood, who at least temporarily, no longer is around.

Caldwell, an all-star on the West squad in the rival National Basketball Association last year, jumped leagues and made it with the ABA East this season. He just got the okay early this week from a federal court judge to remain in the ABA.

Missing, however, will be Haywood, the ABA's Rookie of the Year and Most Valuable Player last season who also was MVP in this All-Star game in 1970. The superstar center, who jumped Denver for Seattle of the NBA, left after a contract dispute and also was granted approval this week by the court to stay in the NBA until a trial on the matter is held March 2.

Despite, or because of, all those changes, the West is favored to win this game for the third straight time before an expected sellout crowd in the newly-expanded 15,000-seat Greensboro Coliseum and a national television audience on CBS. Game time is 2 p.m. EST.

The game promises to match the West's height, strength and experience against the East's youth and quickness as two former NBA players, Bill Sharman of Utah and Al Bianchi of Virginia, match wits as the coaches.

The starting lineup for the West includes Netolicky, 6-foot-9 with 20.9 points and 10 rebounds per game; Brown, 6-5, 20.4 points; Zelmo Beaty, Utah, 6-9, another former NBA All Star who jumped leagues and is averaging 23.9 and 15.9; Larry Cannon, Denver, 6-5, 25.8 points, and Freeman, 6-3, 23.9 points. Freeman was picked as a representative from Utah before his trade to Texas.

For the East, it will be Caldwell of Carolina, 6-5, 22.9 points; John Brisker, Pittsburgh, 6-5, 28.4; Mack Calvin, Floridians, 6-0, 28.6; Dan Issel, Kentucky, 6-7, 28.8 points and 13.6 rebounds, and Charlie Scott, Virginia, 6-6, 27.1.

Issel, who leads the league in scoring, and Scott are the only rookies in either starting lineup.

Caldwell is the only player on the East squad with more than two years experience—he played seven seasons in the NBA.

Completing the West team are Daniels of Indiana, rookie Wendall Ladner, Steve Jones and Jimmy Jones, all of Memphis, and Red Robbins, Ron Boone and Glen Combs, all of Utah. Boone and Combs came to Utah in the Freeman trade and represent Texas in this game.

Daniels, 6-9, in his fourth All-Star game, leads the league in rebounding with 18.3 retrieves a game and a 21.2 point average.

On the East bench will be Barry and Bill Melchionni of the Nets, George Carter and Neil Johnson of Virginia, Cincy Powell of Kentucky, Mike Lewis of Pittsburgh and Larry Jones of the Floridians.

Barry, a former scoring leader in both leagues, still holds several NBA All-Star records and is averaging 25.8 points a game this season despite being slowed by injuries. Melchionni is the ABA assist leader with 8.5 per contest.

Nobody Is Picked for Fame Hall

By DICK JOYCE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Thrown a curve by the baseball writers, Yogi Berra, Early Wynn and Ralph Kiner face an even tougher task of gaining admittance to baseball's Hall of Fame next year when left-handed pitching ace Sandy Koufax becomes eligible.

Koufax, who hurled four no-hitters and established numerous major league strikeout marks during his illustrious career with the Los Angeles Dodgers, will pass his five-year waiting period next year.

The Baseball Writers Association of America slammed the door—at least for this year—on top vote-getters Berra, Wynn and Kiner Thursday when they failed to draw the necessary 270 votes, or 75 per cent mention, on the 360 ballots.

Berra, the former New York Yankee catcher, who came closest with 240 votes in his first year of eligibility, was philosophical, saying: "Maybe next year." But he added: "It gets tougher every year with new men becoming eligible."

Kiner, the former Pittsburgh slugger who finished third in the balloting with 212 votes, echoed Berra's feelings:

"You can always say there will be another. But there is no surety. You have new men coming in. Next year there will be Sandy Koufax among others."

While Berra and Kiner were disappointed, yet hopeful, Wynn, who won 300 games during his career that spanned three decades (1939-1963) with Cleveland, Washington and the Chicago White Sox, said:

"It's a damn shame they don't put somebody in. I'd rather see someone, anyone, get in. It's a letdown. I can't tell you how I really feel. The language would be embarrassing."

Wynn finished second in the balloting with 238 votes, two less then Berra.

Berra got some consolation from the fact that his old teammate Joe DiMaggio also failed to gain the Hall of Fame on his first try.

Ted Williams, Stan Musial, Bob Feller and Jackie Robinson previously were elected the first time they were eligible. Baseball writers with at least 10 years experience took part in the voting.

The Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y., may land new inductees this year when the Hall's Veterans Committee votes Jan. 31 on executives and players who have been inactive for more than 20 years.

Par a Joke in Opening at Phoenix

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Par became a joke in the first round of the $125,000 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament.

Asked his score Thursday, Frank Beard replied: "Par, 66."

It wasn't entirely true but:

Arnold Palmer shot a 68 and was not happy. Billy Casper had a 67 and was three strokes off the pace. And Dave Hill was wondering why they were using the lady's tees.

Bob Lunn, Fred Marti and Don Massengale matched 64s, seven under the listed par of 71, and led the most massive assault on par in over two years on the pro golf tour.

A combination of near perfect playing conditions, warm sunny weather without a hint of wind, greens that held and a short (6,477-yard) flat course led to some almost incredible scoring.

In all, 98 players in the field of 150 broke par on the Arizona Country Club course with 48 locked within three strokes of the leaders.

"It's playing so short you'd think they're using the lady's tees," said Hill, one of 13 tied at 65, just one stroke off the pace.

"I feel like I'm about one over par," Palmer said after his 68 that left him well back in the pack. "It's not a good start."

Jack Tuthill, veteran tournament director for the PGA's tournament players division agreed. "They're all hitting irons into the par fives," he noted. "Play those as par fours and you get par at 67."

The three leaders played those fours a total of 11 under par in the first round. Among them they account for an eagle and three two-putt birdies.

"The longest club I hit on a par four was a six-iron," added Marti, a 30-year-old Texan who lost his exempt players status last year. He birdied all four of the par fives, two with two putts, and didn't have a bogie.

Massengale, a 33-year-old veteran, made his round with an outgoing nine of 30, five under par, and claimed a share of the top spot with a two-putt bird on the final hole.

Lunn, 25-year-old winner of the Los Angeles Open two weeks ago, spiced his day with an 18-foot putt for an eagle three on the eighth.

Secret Draft Main Order of Business

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP) — A secret draft was the main order of business today as American Basketball Association owners, trustees and general managers wound up two days of meetings in advance of the league's All-Star game.

The Eastern and Western division all-stars meet Saturday afternoon at Greensboro Coliseum. Game time for the nationally televised contest is 2 p.m.

ABA Commissioner Jack Dolph met with newsmen after Thursday's all-day session behind closed doors and discussed the breakdown of merger negotiations with the National Basketball Association.

Gilbert Scores Twice to Earn Deadlock

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was an instant replay for Rod Gilbert which was good and also for the rest of his New York Teammates, which was bad, as the Rangers battled Buffalo to a 5-5 National Hockey League tie Thursday night.

Gilbert scored two goals in the third period for the second consecutive night, earning the Rangers a deadlock. On Wednesday, he connected with just 19 seconds left to tie Philadelphia 3-3 and on Thursday he pulled another one out, hitting with just 2½ minutes left for the deadlock.

The tie extended New York's winless streak to four games. The Rangers are only one point back of Boston in the NHL's East Division race but they have played two fewer games than the Bruins.

Elsewhere Thursday night, Montreal battled Philadelphia to a 5-5 tie, Chicago blanked Detroit 2-0, Minnesota topped St. Louis 5-3, and Los Angeles downed Pittsburgh 4-2.

Gilbert, who snapped out of a slump with his two goals Wednesday, bounced right back with another two-goal night against the Sabres and again both his scores came when New York needed them most—in the third period.

Walt Tkaczuk also had two for the Rangers and Gil Perreault connected twice for Buffalo, now unbeaten in four games.

Gilbert's tying goal came after Buffalo's Doug Barrie had given the Sabres the lead. Earlier, Rod's first goal of the game had balanced a tie-breaker by Perreault.

Philadelphia and Montreal exchanged four-goal periods in their bizarre tie. First the Flyers bunched four in the second period to take a 4-1 lead. Three of their goals came in a 79-second span.

Then Montreal bounced right back with four of their own in the third, the last three wiping out a 5-2 Flyer lead. Henri Richard's first goal in 16 games capped the rally that earned the Canadiens the tie.

Chicago goalie Tony Esposito turned in his fourth shutout blanking Detroit.

Esposito blocked 30 Red Wing shots and the Black Hawks used goals by rookie Dan Maloney and veteran Bobby Hull for the victory. Hull's goal was his 26th of the season.

Minnesota came up with its first home ice victory since Christmas night by knocking off St. Louis.

Hughes Named to Coach the Oilers

HOUSTON (AP) — Ed Hughes says he believes the Houston Oilers can provide fans with an exciting and winning ball club.

Hughes, 43, offensive assistant for the San Francisco 49ers, was selected Thursday as the Oilers new head coach.

He signed a five-year contract at an undisclosed salary and in so doing accepted his first head coaching job after 12 years as an assistant.

Hughes succeeds Wally Lemm who resigned at the end of last season.

Hughes announced he was retaining Walt Schlinkman, defensive backs, and Fran Polsfoot, receivers, the only assistants still remaining on Lemm's staff. He said he will select four more assistants.

The Oilers, riddled by injuries, fell to a 3-10-1 mark last season.

American Girls Have a Bad Day

SCHRUNS, Austria (AP) — "I guess now and then we can have a bad day."

That was the comment of Hank Tauber, the U.S. coach, after his American Girls finished far out of the competition in the World Cup women's special ski slalom Thursday.

Betsy Clifford, a 17-year-old Canadian, won in a combined time of 1 minute, 33.50 seconds for two descents down the canno barrel track. Patty Boydstun of McCall, Idaho, finished 14th for the best American showing. Linda Cochran of Richmond, Vt. was 16th.

Marilyn Cochran of Richmond, Vt. had been sixth after the first run and her sister, Barbara, ninth. Both missed gates on the second run and were eliminated.

Bobsledders Try to Patch Up Wounds

CERVINIA, Italy (AP) — The world's top bobsledders took a day off today, some to patch up their wounds and others to rest for the two-man championship heats Saturday and Sunday on the ill-fated course of this Italian Alps resort.

The atmosphere in Cervinia was gloomy after the death of Luis Lopez Solanes of Spain. He was killed when his sled ran off the course and hit a tree Thursday. Spanish driver Eugenio Baturone suffered a fractured pelvis and a broken nose in the accident.

The accident to the Spanish crew was the 13th in five days of official trials for the two-man world championships. To cope with the track, the organizers have decided to spread it with snow during the championships Saturday and Sunday to slow it down.

Special attention will be given to the last part of the 1,540 meter Blue Lake Track, which has a 14.5 per cent drop and allows speeds up to 85 miles an hour.

Accidents have knocked out some of the top competitors in the championships, including defending champions Horse Floth and Peppi Bader of West Germany.

The top American team was also out. Paul Lamey, the Navy lieutenant who had won all the major U.S. race in 1970, overturned during the trials on Sunday.

Hero Finds Fans Sometimes Fade Quickly

By R. GREGORY NOKES

BUENOS AIRES, (AP) — A year ago, Jean-Pierre Beltoise left Argentina as a local hero, winner of the 1970 Argentine sports auto race.

He leaves today, charged with negligent homicide, under bond of $15,000 and object of local abuse, from press and fans alike. His career as a leading auto race driver may be ended and at the very least seriously jeopardized.

The difference was a fatal accident in the 1971 race that killed Italian driver Ignazio Giunti. Beltoise was the key factor in the accident.

A local judge Thursday ruled that evidence to date showed that Beltoise was guilty of negligent homicide. He ordered the 33-year-old Frenchman arrested, and then released him on bond.

Beltoise will be allowed to leave for 60 days but will have to return at the end of that period to again face the courts for a final determination in the case. He still could be found innocent.

Beltoise declined to comment on the judge's action, but did confirm he would leave for France today.

Beltoise, driving for the Matra team, ran out of fuel on the 38th lap of the Argentine 1,000-kilometer sports auto race Jan. 10. He got out and began pushing his Matra toward the pits, a considerable distance away.

A number of cars went safely around the Matra which Beltoise was pushing at some considerable strain in a criss-cross path in the center of the track. But when Giunti rounded a hairpin curve he was unable to avoid the stalled car and smashed into it from behind.

The Ferrari exploded in flames, and the popular young Italian driver was trapped inside the burning car in front of the thousands of fans in the main grandstand.

Judge Esteban Vergara ruled Thursday that Beltoise had done "a highly imprudent act...(that) can be considered as the determining cause of the tragedy that occurred..."

He said this was irrespective of such other matters as whether warning flags were properly displayed and whether other drivers might be ignoring the flags.

Charging an athlete with a criminal act as a result of a mishap in a sporting event is not common and questions have been raised why it was done here.

Juan Manuel Fangio of Argentina, five-time world driving champion and chief organizer of the race, is one of the few to come to Beltoise's defense in the matter.

Fangio says the matter was "magnified out of proportion with out any reason." He said Beltoise was doing what any good driver would do, "trying to stay in the race."

"Beltoise made a mistake," Fangio said. "But it should not be forgotten that when a man is driving he isn't aware of anything else, not even his own name."

Tombstone, Ariz., claims to have the world's largest rose tree. The "Lady Banksia" has a trunk 58 inches in circumference and its branches spread out some six-feet-thick with roses.

Matthews Was the Best at Motivation

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Billy Moore, a quarterback at Little Rock Central High School under Wilson Matthews, supplied an insight into Matthews' success as a coach.

"Nobody beat him at motivating a team," Moore said. "We could be a five-touchdown favorite, and he'd still have us convinced there was a chance we could lose if we didn't get after it."

Moore quarterbacked the last 12 victories in a 33-game winning streak that was intact when Matthews left Central in 1957 to accept a position at the University of Arkansas.

Matthews took over as head coach at Central in 1947 and left with a 109-17-3 record. He was 83-3-3 against Arkansas teams.

Matthews and five others will be inducted into the Arkansas Hall of Fame tonight at Hot Springs. The other inductees are Foy Hammons, Pat Summerall, Frank H. "Swede" McCormack and Eddie Hamm.

"He wanted perfection, that's all, just perfection," said Bobby Hannon, Matthews' quarterback in 1951-52. "He didn't miss a thing.

"His great gift was that he could make everybody play a little better than they knew how," said Hannon, who guided Hot Springs to the state championship last fall. "A lot of boys with very average ability played for him, won for him, made all - conference. Whatever your potential was, he got every bit of it, and sometimes a lot more."

Matthews played high school football at Atkins and was a freshman at Arkansas Tech in 1940.

Marvin "Shorty" Salmon was an established back when Matthews arrived at Tech and he remembers that on the first day of practice Matthews was "knocking everybody around — all the upperclassmen — and then laughing and ragging them."

Salmon persuaded the blocking back to change positions with him so he could take a crack at the "Atkins flash."

"Well, I thought he'd tear me apart before I got loose from him," Salmon says. "Of course, he made the tackle, too, and that was about the last time anybody asked to tangle with Wilson Matthews.

"He had the most amazing knack of finding the football I've ever seen," Salmon said. "No matter what, if you were carrying the ball, you couldn't hide from Wilson Matthews. He did the kind of things that nobody has ever learned how to teach."

Matthews was a linebacker on defense and played guard on offense before switching to blocking back in his second year at Tech. The Russellville school was a junior college at the time and after two years there Matthews enrolled at the University of Arkansas in 1942. The following year he entered the Marines, was in the V-12 program at Arkansas A&M and played on the military team formed at Monticello. The team opened their season with a 20-12 victory over Arkansas at Fayetteville.

Matthews' coaching career began at Rogers in 1944. After accepting the position, he returned to Russellville seeking advice from Tucker.

"He said two things I've always remembered," Matthews said. "Don't go out on the field to coach without looking and acting like a coach and, it doesn't matter how you chew out a boy, or how strong you make it, if you can take it off later in the day with a wink, or a word."

Opening lead—♣ 2

Harry Fishbein of New York plunked his ace of clubs on East's king and remarked, "I ain't going to take no finesses today."

Harry can speak excellent English any time he wants to, but as he remarked when the hand was over and he had won the rubber, "What do you think? Good grammar or good play?"

At trick two Harry led the five of diamonds and played dummy's eight. East won with the jack and led a club to his partner's queen.

West shifted to the jack of hearts and Harry was on lead with the ace. He played a couple of rounds of trumps being careful to leave the queen of trumps in dummy. Then he led his last diamond and went up with dummy's ace. This dropped East's king and all Harry had to do to win the game and rubber was to ruff a diamond; enter dummy with that nice queen of trumps and discard two hearts on the last two diamonds. He still had to lose one heart trick but that gave the defense a total of just three tricks which was not enough for their purposes.

If Harry had tried the diamond finesse he would have wound up one trick short.

West was marked with the queen of clubs by his club raise and the play to the first trick. Remember the code word ARCH where A stands for Analyze the lead and R for Review the bidding?

It was almost a sure thing that East would hold the king of diamonds for his opening bid.

The hand could still be made if diamonds were to break 3-3. Harry's play gave the extra chance of winning against king-small in the East hand.

A—Just bid five diamonds. If your partner is a very conservative expert you might bid five no-trump to get him to slam. Of course, if he bids six clubs over your five no-trump, you will go to six diamonds.

Thant's Post Sought by Finn Envoy

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A 47-year-old Finn is the first man to enter the field to succeed U Thant as secretary-general of the United Nations.

Ambassador Max Jakobson, a historian and former newsman, has headed Finland's U.N. delegation since April 1965. He entered his country's foreign service 12 years before as press attache in Washington.

Thant announced Monday that he would retire when his term ends in December. After his announcement, the U.N. delegates from the other Nordic countries Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Iceland—met with Jakobson and endorsed his candidacy, a Nordic diplomat said.

The Finnish Foreign Ministry said on Wednesday that it was consulting other governments and was gratified to note that Jakobson was "widely recognized as a person who ... fulfills the requirements made on the secretary-general."

The endorsement of both the United States and the Soviet Union is crucial to any candidate for secretary-general, but neither U.S. nor Soviet spokesmen would comment on Jakobson's prospects.

"It is too early to comment on questions of succession at this time," said a spokesman for the U.S. mission. "We, of course, have a high regard for Ambassador Jakobson personally and for the role which Finland is playing in the United Nations."

Proper Medical Regimen Will Help Ulcer Victims

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

One of the basic principles in treating a peptic ulcer is to neutralize the acid-pepsin juice. Milk, baking soda and other home remedies have this effect. The amount of acid generated by the stomach can be enormous and it is important to take enough antiacid medicine to fully neutralize it. The usual mistake is not taking enough long enough. The patient gets relief from his pain and stops taking the medicine his doctor prescribed.

No one antacid is ideal but those prepared from aluminum hydroxide either in tablet or liquid form with other ingredients are the best. These will not overdo the job and cause the body chemistry to become too alkaline, creating other problems.

Baking soda taken in large amounts can be harmful.

The rule is, take lots of antacid, take it regularly and don't stop until the doctor tells you to. The amount one person needs to take may greatly exceed the amount another person needs. The difference is in how much acid-pepsin juice the stomach forms.

The second type of medicine used in treating ulcers acts by inhibiting the stomach from forming too much digestive juice. These usually chemically block the nerve to the stomach and often cause dryness of the mouth if they are effective. You need a doctor's prescription for these.

Although less attention is paid to diet these days, with more reliance on drugs, it is important. A bland diet, devoid of spicy foods, does help. Because a lot of emphasis is put on using milk and cream, it is important to warn against eating too much of the saturated fats. Skim milk has just as much protein and avoids the problem. Many patients with ulcers develop high cholesterol and other medical difficulties, including excessive weight gain because care was not taken to avoid overloading with saturated fat.

The caffeine in coffee stimulates the formation of acid-pepsin juice. Coffee should be eliminated entirely. A coffee substitute free of caffeine may be used. Colas and other stimulating drinks should also be eliminated.

With proper care an ulcer patient can take most medicines but the indiscriminate use of aspirin is harmful. Ulcer patients should only take it with an antacid tablet and just after eating, never on an empty stomach.

Cigarette smokers have far more ulcers than nonsmokers and it is better if this habit is discontinued.

Alcohol irritates both the lining of the digestive tract and stimulates the formation of acid-pepsin juice.

Attention to the emotional and stressful aspects of the patient's life is important, too. If life situations are improved adequately and a proper medical regimen followed, most people can be helped. There may be remissions but these can be minimized if the above principles are followed.

QUICK QUIZ

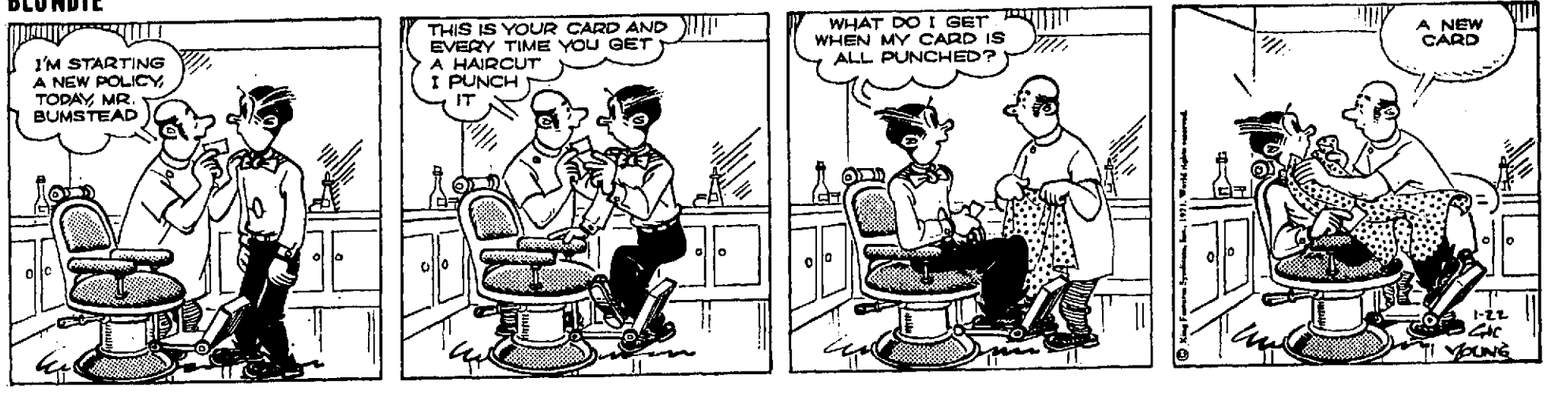

Q—What tree is the source of Canada balsam?

A—In the eastern U.S.A., from the balsam fir, and in western U.S.A., from true firs. The balsam can be secured without hurting even the bark of the tree because it forms bubbles, making blisters which can be punctured to get the pure balsam.

Q—What is the source of the inscription on the Liberty Bell?

A—The Biblical Book of Leviticus, chapter 25, verse 10.

So we are always of good courage; we know that while we are at home in the body we are away from the Lord, for we walk by faith, not by sight.—II. Cor. 5:6, 7.

Bird Feeding Ground Is Threatened

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Scientists say the mammoth oil slick spreading around San Francisco is endangering fragile ecology of Bolinas Lagoon, one of the last feeding grounds for nesting colonies of the great blue heron and white egret.

Hundreds of volunteers have converged on the mouth of the lagoon 20 miles north of San Francisco in an attempt to prevent an inch-thick slick resulting from a tanker collision from entering the bird feeding grounds.

A floating boom was placed across the mouth of the lagoon. Workers spread straw on the oil, then raked the oil-saturated straw ashore by the tons.

An estimated 1,500 oil-covered birds have been brought to cleaning stations set up throughout the region, but experts say they are afraid more than 90 per cent will die.

Dr. Martin Griffin, a director of the Audubon Canyon Ranch near the lagoon, said oil could poison vital marine life in the mud, such as ghost shrimp, a primary food for the birds.

The Audubon Canyon Ranch is the last major Pacific Coast nesting colony for the great blue heron and the egret, which get most of their food from Bolinas Lagoon, Griffin said.

Herons are now returning to their traditional nesting grounds, and the egret are expected within a few weeks, said Clerin Zumwalt, ranch naturalists. None of the herons have been coated with oil yet, he said.

There were no reports of oil endangering seals and sea lions which inhabit the waters of the San Francisco area.

Some 500,000 to 1.9 million gallons of ship fuel oil oozed out of the tanker Oregon Standard after it collided with the Arizona Standard in dense fog near the Golden Gate Bridge early Monday.

The slick spread over large portions of San Francisco Bay and the ocean from Point Reyes National Seashore, 30 miles to the north, to below Pacifica, 20 miles south.

A Coast Guard spokesman said Wednesday that an aerial survey showed the bulk of the slick in the bay had been cleaned up by Standard Oil refinery workers and volunteers.

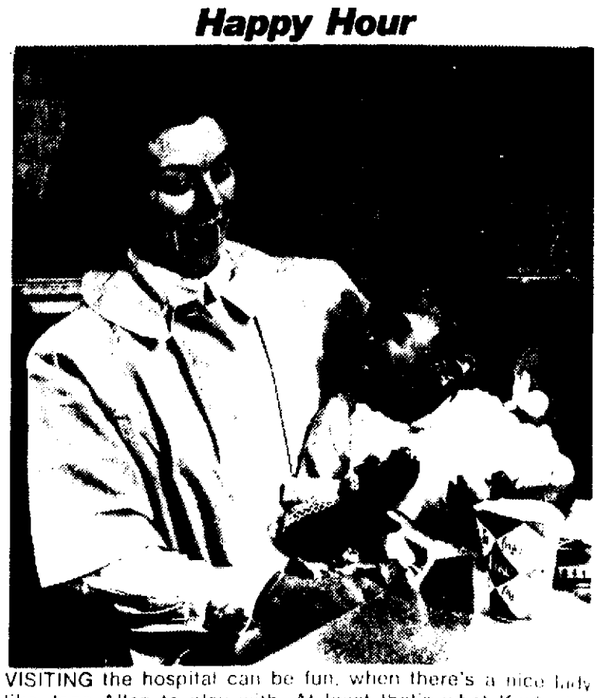

Doubts Account of Interview

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Former Secretary of State Dean Rusk says he doubts an account of a private interview with Robert F. Kennedy contained in the Khrushchev memoirs.

"I find it very hard to believe that Robert Kennedy told the Russian ambassador in a private conversation that he was afraid the Army was going to take over the United States at the time of the Cuban missile crisis," Rusk declared in a talk to a civic club meeting Wednesday.

Rusk, now a law professor at the University of Georgia, added however that the memoirs, first published by Life magazine, are "worth reading on the basis that they might very well be Mr. Khrushchev's words edited along the way by some unknown characters."

Happy Hour

VISITING the hospital can be fun, when there's a nice lady like Jane Allen to play with. At least that's what Kimberley Scott of Atlanta, Ga., seems to think. Kim, a patient at the March of Dimes Birth Defects Center at Grady Memorial Hospital, was born with water on the brain and a heart defect. But, thanks to the great advances science has made in treating such defects, Kim can look forward to a happy life. Mrs. Allen, a speech diagnostician, is among thousands of volunteers who help staff March of Dimes Birth Defects Centers across the country.

Telephone Company Plans Improvements

CABLE GOES UNDERGROUND—About 85 per cent of all long distance and local cable placed in 1970 in Arkansas was put underground. Burying the cable beneath the surface not only makes telephone service more dependable during bad weather but also helps enhance the beauty of the surrounding area.

OPERATORS READY—Even though most people dial their own long distance calls, there are still times when the services of an operator are needed, especially in times of emergency calls. In Arkansas, there are about 1,200 Southwestern Bell operators on duty to help callers.

Russell Was Great Loss to Senate

By LEE BYRD
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard Russel never married, said an acquaintance, because he was "too damn busy" bestowing his attentions 14 and 16 hours a day on half a century's duty in high public office.

When the Georgia Democrat died Thursday, the Senate lost its president pro tem and most experienced member. And the Old South lost in his gentle drawl the mightiest voice it had in Washington.

Richard Brevard Russell, at 73, had been hospitalized since Dec. 8 at the Walter Reed Army Medical Center, fighting the last of many struggles over the past dozen years with a respiratory ailment.

But almost to the end the slender, six-foot-one Russell had refused to ease his work pace. When doctors thought a year ago he might have cancer, he was almost apologetic about having to leave the Senate 25 minutes daily for cobalt treatment.

After learning of Russell's death, less than 2½ hours after the 92nd Congress convened, political friends and enemies eulogized him in the warmest of terms.

Calling the Georgian one of the nation's greatest sons, President Nixon said "when the security of the United States was the issue, six American presidents leaned upon this great patriot; he never failed them."

Russell joined the Senate as its youngest member in 1933, brimming with enthusiasm for Franklin Roosevelt's New Deal, and returned six times over for another term—a record matched by only two other men.

Through a masterful application of seniority and friendships built with a quietly courteous manner, he rose first to become chairman of the Armed Services Committee and then the Appropriations Committee, positions which afforded him enormous influence in both foreign and domestic policy.

When the French left Southeast Asia in 1954 and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles recommended the United States send military adviers to South Vietnam, Russell protested bitterly to President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

"You send 200 advisers now, you'll send 20,000 before it's over," he told Eisenhower. But Dulles prevailed, and despite Russell's early objections, the senator eventually became a staunch supporter of the war effort.

"I started out as what they call a dove," he said a few years ago, "But when the commander in chief committed our flag and our forces to that unhappy land, he committed me. History has turned me into a screaming hawk."

For all his power, Russell did little in his last 18 years to encourage public attention for himself outside of Georgia.

It was different, however, in 1948 and 1952 when, disenchanted with President Harry S. Truman's economic policies, Russell sought his party's White House nomination, arguing that government should lighten its rein now that the nation was back on its feet.

But each time he captured only the votes of Southern delegates, though Truman himself observed that "If Russell had been from Indiana or Missouri or Kentucky, he may very well have been president of the United States."

In 1954 came the Supreme Court's school integration order, and Russell, predictably, strode to the front of the states rights battleline.

"I have no apologies for the fight I made," he said But he just as firmly declared that once those laws were on the books, "It becomes our duty as good citizens to live with them."

Although Russell declined to endorse Lyndon Johnson for the presidency in 1964 because of their divergent views on civil rights, they were good friends, and Johnson frequently invited him to the White House for a private dinner and conversation.

SW Bell Expansion in Hope Will Continue Throughout New Year

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company is geared for a record construction year in Arkansas and Hope telephone customers will benefit from the company's expansion and improvement activities.

"A construction program of more than $40 million gross expenditures will be carried out in Arkansas by Southwestern Bell in 1971," Manager Jack Bayles said. "It is the largest construction program in our history and these expansion and improvement plans embrace all facets of the communications network."

Bayles said one of the construction projects planned for completion during 1971 will route about 34 miles of cable, mostly buried, through the east and south sections of Hope.

Gross expenditures expected to be spent on the project, which was begun last year, will be about $223,800.

"The project, scheduled to be completed toward the end of the year, follows Southwestern Bell's plans to expand service in the Hope area to meet forecasted growth in the coming years," Bayles explained.

Southwestern Bell now serves more than 6,900 telephones in Hope, the manager said.

"This total compares to 5,100 phones in service here just five years ago and the increase is a good barometer of the growth Hope has enjoyed," he added.

Hope residents are also using their phones more than ever before," Bayles said, "averaging 36,100 local and long distance calls each day."

Statewide telephone construction plans for 1971 include installation of more than 1,600 miles of new exchange and long distance cable.

"Almost all this new cable will be buried," Bayles said, "in keeping with our policy to place cable underground whenever practical and economically feasible. Buried cable is protected from adverse weather and also helps enhance the natural beauty of the surrounding area."

The telephone company also will install about 1000 new long distance calling circuits throughout the state this year to expand this service.

Southwestern Bell predicts it will gain some 39,000 telephones in Arkansas this year and will end the year with 666,000 phones in service.

Bayles said the company expects to be serving 1 million telephones in the state by 1980, reflecting the predicted growth in Arkansas during the decade ahead.

The company added about 35,000 new telephones in the state last year and served 627,000 phones at the end of 1970.

Bayles said Southwestern Bell spent almost $33 million, a record amount, on construction in Arkansas in 1970.

"One major project was the largest rural service improvement program ever carried out in Arkansas," he said. "Hope rural customers benefited from this project which brought better grades of service to thousands of customers throughout the state."

Among local telephone improvement and expansion activities in 1970, the telephone company spent more than $115,000 in gross expenditures for dial switching equipment.

"In all," Bayles said, "the additional dial equipment installed in Hope during 1970 measured up to the growth the city has seen throughout the year."

In addition to construction expenditures, Southwestern Bell made many other significant contributions to Arkansas' economy in 1970, Bayles said.

The company's 4,200 employees in Arkansas earned more than $30 million.

Included were the 83 telephone men and women in Hope with an annual payroll of $479,000.

"Most of these dollars were spent in local communities for food, clothing, housing and other purchases," Bayles noted.

Southwestern Bell also paid about $22 million in local, state and federal taxes in Arkansas in 1970.

Widespread Air Operations in Cambodia

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has intensified its air power against North Vietnamese troops in Cambodia because the threat of an enemy offensive in South Vietnam has eased, Pentagon sources say.

But evidence suggests widespread American air operations in Cambodia for much of the last six months, although official U.S. spokesmen have tried to play down the scope.

Only this week did the Pentagon finally acknowledge a wider range of air support of South Vietnamese and Cambodian troops in Cambodia.

In a war in which semantics has assumed a significant role, the Nixon administration has backed away from the previously used narrow term "interdiction"—destruction or interruption of enemy supplies and troops—and moved to the broader "air combat and logistic activities," meant to include direct cover for friendly ground forces in Cambodia.

There are indications the administration delayed admitting the full scope of American air activity in hopes this would prevent even more restrictive actions by Congress, which has decreed no U.S. ground troops or advisers enter the Cambodian war.

But now Senate doves, aroused by reports of heavy U.S. air attacks in Cambodia, are talking about new hearings and complaining the administration has stretched the intent of Congress.

The administration has come out more openly now perhaps because eyewitness reports make it difficult to deny what's going on.

Pentagon officials say use of American air power has evolved as the situation has changed.

They claim the move to apply heavier U.S. air power against the enemy in Cambodia stems in large part from judgments, based on intelligence information, that the North Vietnamese are likely not to mount a major offensive in South Vietnam during the months ahead.

This, they say, opens an opportunity to set back the North Vietnamese in Cambodia to make sure they are unable to re-establish their old sanctuaries along the South Vietnamese border and their old major supply route from the sea.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

One of a trio of the most recently appointed Presiding Elders in the 12th Episcopal District (Arkansas and Oklahoma) of the African Methodist Episcopal Church will preach both the morning and evening sermons at Bethel A. M. E. Church Sunday.

The Rev. H. H. Scott, Presiding Elder of the Prescott District is rated in the West Arkansas Annual Conference as a Class "A" minister. Mrs. Scott is a highly practical Missionary Official in the state of Arkansas and is District Supervisor of the Prescott District Missionary Department. They have one daughter, Katheryn, who is a young talented organist.

The Senior Choir, under the direction of Miss Brenda Wilson will provide the music for the 10:50 a.m. service. The Anthem, "God Of Grace and God Of Glory" will prelude the sermon.

An evangelistic worship of 18th Century hymns will be presented by the congregation at 6:30 p.m. The music will be directed by Miss Wilson and the pastor at this time.

The Stewardesses of Bethel Church, under the direction of Mrs. Alma Lee Jones, will provide a fellowship dinner in the parish house. The local Trustees, Class Leaders, Stewardesses, Stewards, pastoral family, and the Presiding Elder's family and guests will share social intimacy at this time.

The business session will involve the official staff and auxiliary executives and will culminate the Conference Session on Monday night at 7:00 p.m. in the church.

Dr. W. G. Wynn, Bethel's pastor extends an invitation to the public for Sunday's worship services.

A fish dinner will be sold from the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilson on North Hazel Street Saturday, January 23rd, from 12 O'clock noon until all is sold.

For delivery, call 777-4064 or 777-3547.

Israel Will Not Accept Egypt's Plan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Premier Golda Meir said today Israel will not accept Egypt's proposal for an international peace force to guard any future border arrangement in the Middle East.

"On no account whatsoever would such a force be a substitute for secure, recognized and defensible borders," Mrs. Meir said in an interview with the Israeli newspaper Maariv.

Egypt called this week for establishment of a U.N. peacekeeping force in which the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France, as permanent members of the U.N. Security Council, would participate.

Israel has made plain it opposes any Big Four role in a Middle East settlement.

In Beirut, Premier Saeb Salam told a closed session of parliament that Lebanon plans to set up a missile defense system to ward off Israeli attacks.

Lebanese deputies disclosed today that the missiles will be part of a "comprehensive defense plan" that will also include purchase of other modern weapons for the 15,000-man army.

Salam said the government soon will seek approval of the defense plan from parliament, the members said, adding that the premier believes a peaceful Middle East settlement "still is far away" and Lebanon must move quickly to strengthen its defenses.

Salam gave no details about the missile net or where Lebanon plans to purchase it. But a French press report in September 1969 said Lebanon had bought from South Africa a system of French low-altitude Crotale missiles, with first deliveries due at the end of 1971. Beirut never denied the report.

The purchase from South Africa was a technicality, the report said, to get around the French government's embargo on arms deliveries to Middle East countries.

Beirut newspapers recently said that President Sulieman Franijieh has approved an army plan to install antiaircraft missiles at strategic points along the border with Israel.

The costs of the Crotale contract never were disclosed, but government sources said $65 million was earmarked for the country's new defense plan in 1971.

The Crotale is a radar-guided antiaircraft missile with a six-mile range and a 33-pound warhead. It is fired from a truck with a second vehicle carrying the guiding unit.

Salam announced the missile plan during a secret parliamentary debate about an Israeli commando raid last week on a Palestinian guerrilla base 28 miles inside Lebanon on the Mediterranean coast. The raiders flew in by helicopter.

Israel said the raid was in retaliation for recent guerrilla raids and shelling attacks from Lebanese territory. Arab terrorists from Lebanon set off two bombs Thursday beside a house at an Israeli settlement about six miles from the border.

At United Nations headquarters in New York, diplomats predicted that the Middle East cease-fire, due to expire Feb. 5, will be renewed for up to three months.

Their prediction followed word of a U.N. report indicating that mediator Gunnar V. Jarring is making progress in his peace talks with Israel, Egypt and Jordan.

Kell to Take Oath Friday

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—George Kell of Swifton is to be sworn in this afternoon in the Governor's Reception Room in the state Capitol as a new member of the state Highway Commission.

Chief Justice Carleton Harris of the Arkansas Supreme Court will administer the oath of office.

Soviet Envoy Is Returning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin has returned from nearly two weeks of consultations in Moscow.

Reng Denies Charge by Union Head

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—Dr. Carl Reng, president of Arkansas State University, denied Thursday that more than 30 plumbers, carpenters, electricians, janitors and cafeteria help have been fired at ASU for alleged unionizing activities.

Bill Lewis, president of the proposed union, leveled the charge Thursday.

"That's news to me...," Reng said. "I don't know what they are talking about."

Reng said the ASU buildings superintendent had "laid off" some workers in an effort to give jobs to married college students who needed work.

E. W. Barnhill, an electrician and an ASU employe for five years, said the school's employes had been "mistreated" for the last three years, and especially in the last 10 months of union-organizing activity.
